章节摘录

UNIT 8 On Biography Biography is an account of one's life that has been written by someone else . It should be a truthful reflection of the subject ' s life and work . However , the writer of this review article , Kathryn Hughes , believes that Karl , the biographer of George Eliot , didn't present Eliot ' s life and work as it was . K . Hughes shows in this article that G . Eliot was a woman whose character was full of contradictions and complexities . She was far from perfect . Instead of exploring all those loose ends , irrelevancies and unfinishedness of Eliot ' s life , Karl smoothed them over to produce an outstanding heroine of mythic achievements . His biography leaves no room for the reader to draw conclusions for themselves . K . Hughes believes that biographers should not make readers admire the subject uncritically .
