Change them, The intention of the donor is established at the moment the funds are dedicated to a charitable cause. This dedication imposes a charitable trust for the donor's objective as effectively as if the assets had been accepted subject to an express limitation providing that the donation was to be held in trust by a trustee solely for the purpose for which it was given. It is imperative that the objectives of individuals who give to charity be strictly adhered to. There are situations in which a motion for rehearing should be granted. Before the enactment of it was held that when such a motion was granted, any appeals from the prior order would be dismissed.
