<<建筑中的中国文化>>

内容概要

在上海，最具历史特色的居民住宅便是石库门建筑了。

为什么叫石库门呢？

因为这种建筑吸收了当时江南民居的式样，以石头做门框，以黑漆实心的厚木板做门扇，所以，人们就叫这种房子为石库门。

石库门建筑至今已有近一个半世纪的历史，在上世纪三十年代，上海石库门建筑曾达九千多处，占当时上海住宅总面积的六成以上。

石库门最早是由外国房产商修建的。

当时，许多江浙一带的富商、地主、官绅为了躲避战乱而涌入上海，在上海经商的外国房产商看准了这个机会，大量建造石库门式样的房屋，卖给他们居住。

石库门多为砖木结构的两层楼房，坡型屋顶常带有老虎窗，红砖外墙。

成片的石库门建筑总体上采用联排式的布局，这来源于欧洲，而弄堂的入口处却又常有中国传统式的牌楼。

石库门建筑里，比比皆是中西合璧之举。

章节摘录

插图：buildings of this sort, which have taken up over 60% of the total residential area in Shanghai. The earliest buildings with stone-ringed door were built by foreign land or estate agents. At that time, many wealthy merchants, landlords and government officials swarmed into Shanghai, due to the chaos caused by war. Foreign land or estate agents who were doing business in Shanghai discovered this opportunity, and built a lot of houses in the pattern of buildings with stone-ringed door, then sold them to those new comers. Most buildings with stone-ringed door are two-story ones built with bricks and wood, with a sloping roof as well as tiger window (dormant window) on it usually, and the outer wall is built with red bricks. Continuous areas of houses with stone-ringed door adopt the layout of row dwelling as a whole, which stems from Europe. Besides, there is always a traditional Chinese decorated archway at the entrance of the lane. Among the buildings with stone-ringed door, there are combinations through blending the eastern and western styles everywhere.
