<<中国戏剧故事>>

内容概要

Traditional drama involves the literature , music , dance , fine arts , martial art , acrobatics and factors of various kinds of performing art. Originated from working songs and dances in the pre-Qin period in 221 BC , it was brought onto the stage in the middle and later period of the Tang Dynasty (618-907) , experienced impressive development in the Song Dynasty (960-1279) , and became mature in the Yuan Dynasty (1271-1368) . The poetic dramas of the Yuan Dynasty marked its maturity.

章节摘录

Seeing this , Zhang Gong couldn't help himself and poetry started to come out of his mouth , inspired as he was to be in Yingying's presence. Immediately Yingying realized that Zhang Gong was there watching them. Hongniang also recognized his voice , and said with some irritation , "That's the silly scholar , who is 23 years old but still isn't married." The poem touched a chord with Yingying. Instantly she composed a reply using the rhyming scheme of the original. Yingying's poem made Zhang Gong love her even more. What happiness he thought he would enjoy if he could chant poems forever to this literary beauty !

He walked up to Yingying. Zhang Gong bowed several times and Hongniang said to Yingying , "Miss Yingying , let's go back now. Someone is coming. We will be in trouble if Mrs. Cui finds out." Reluctantly , Yingying was persuaded to return , but before she did she glanced briefly.
