章节摘录

Jane Goodall first made friends with a chimp (黑猩猩) when she was one year old . On her first birthday her mother carried her to the ZOO near her home and bought her a toy chimp . She loved her furry (毛绒的) friend very much . At age 7 , Jane Goodall read Dr Doolittle , a book about a doctor who could talk to animals . She wanted to be able to talk to her favorite animal , too . She expected to go to Africa some day SO that she could learn more about chimps . When Jane grew up , she still dreamed of going to Africa . She got her wish when she was 26 years old . She went to Gombe National Park where many chimps lived in the forests . Jane watched the chimps closely day after day . She saw that they were a lot like people . They could think and make plans . They used tools . They showed their fear , pain , or pleasure . Some-times , they fought . Often , they hugged (拥抱) and kissed . Scientists were surprised by what Jane saw . They knew that the relation between chimps and humans was the closest . However , they did not know they acted SO much like US .

Jane still has the toy chimp she was given as a child . She has studied her furry friends for over 30 years . Now , she speaks for them to groups around the world . She hopes that what she has to say will make others do something to protect chimps from being hurt .
