

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

图书基本信息

书名：<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

13位ISBN编号：9787560088594

10位ISBN编号：7560088597

出版时间：2009-8

出版时间：外语教学与研究出版社

作者：厄尔

页数：288

版权说明：本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问：<http://www.tushu007.com>

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

前言

外研社从剑桥大学出版社出版的“Cambridge Handbooks for Language Teachers”中选出10本，结成“Learning in Doing?剑桥英语课堂教学系列”，在中国大陆出版发行。

应外研社要我为这套丛书写一个总序的要求，我通读了全部10本书，同时看了原系列其他书的书名。

我发现，在所有这些书都涉及外语教学中的重要问题的同时，编者选出目前这10本来先期出版发行，是有道理的。

首先，从这10本书的书名就可看出，它们都是关于当前外语教学中的一些最关紧要的问题。读这套书的教师朋友们会发现，它们是如此切合我们国家当前外语教学（尤其是基础阶段外语教学）所面临的突出问题，用一句俗语说，它们是如此符合我国的“国情”：大班教学、以学生为中心突出个性化教学、课堂设计、口语教学、词汇教学、如何利用多媒体教学手段等等，方方面面，不一而足。

。

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

内容概要

本书试图打破“教语法只能是很枯燥的”这一误解，将语法教学与交际法紧密结合在一起，为教师们提供了一系列生动、有趣的语法实践活动。

作者将英语教学过程中涉及的34个重要语法点按字母顺序列出，提供了近200种趣味性强、可操作性强的课堂活动，力图将语法教学交际化，甚至是游戏化。

相信广大英语教师及英语教育研究者读后定会从中受益。

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

书籍目录

Thanks	Acknowledgements	Introduction	PART ONE: GUIDELINES	1 Grammar	1
What is grammar?		2 The place of grammar in language teaching	3 What does learning grammar involve?	4 The organization of grammar teaching	2
Volume and repetition		3 Success-orientation	4 Heterogeneity	5 Teacher assistance	2
	6 Interest	3 Activities	1 The task	2 Interest	3 Learner activation
	4 In the classroom	1 Practical hints	2 Getting the most out of coursebook exercises
	PART TWO: ACTIVITIES		1 Adjectives	2 Adverbs	3 Articles, definite and indefinite
Both ... and, either ... or, neither nor		5 Comparison of adjectives	6 Conditional clauses		7
'Copula' verbs		8 Countable/uncountable, singular/plural nouns	9 Future tenses		10 Future perfect tense
	11 Have/has (got)	12 Imperatives	13 Indirect speech		14 ING form of the verb
	15 Interrogatives	16 Is/arc, there is/there are	17 Modals		18 Negative sentences
	19 Numbers	20 Passives	21 Past perfect		22 Past progressive simple	24 Possessives	25 Prepositions	26 Present perfect		27 Present progressive
	28 Present simple	29 Pronouns	30 Relative clauses		31 Short answers
questions	33 TO form of the verb	34 Used to	Bibliography		Index

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

章节摘录

By volume I mean the sheer amount of (comprehensible) language that is spoken, heard, read or written in the course of the activity. Crudely speaking, the more language the learners are exposed to or produce, the more they are likely to learn: this means devoting plenty of time to practice sessions, and exploiting that time efficiently. When the material to be practised is non-specific, as in fluency exercises, this just means spending as much time as possible using the language in general (as distinct from talking about it). When, however, the material is specific, as in the learning of a grammatical structure, most of the volume should consist of repetition of the items to be learnt. In other words, we want to design procedures that will induce the learners to engage with the items to be learnt as many times as possible. This does not mean mere mechanical reiteration of forms, but repeated reception and production, in speech and writing, of different examples of the structures form and meaning. In a brief exercise where there is insufficient volume and repetition, the learners may provide you with some feedback on what they know, or do not know, but they will not get much opportunity to consolidate their learning. In other words, the procedure will probably function as an informal test rather than as a practice. In simple terms, the principle of repetition means that you have to get the learners to produce or perceive examples of the structure - say, sentences using the present perfect tense - over and over again. This would seem to be a perfect recipe for boredom. However, the two features of interest and repetition, though not easily combined, are by no means mutually exclusive; and thinking of ways to achieve both of them simultaneously is perhaps the central challenge facing the teacher and materials writer in designing effective practice techniques.

<<如何通过课堂活动教语法>>

版权说明

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问:<http://www.tushu007.com>