章节摘录

插图：Helen was seven years old. She was in primary school. One day, one of her teeth began to hurt. She cried in the class at school, and her teacher asked kindly, "What's the matter, Helen?"

"One of my teeth hurts," answered Helen. "Tell your mother about it," said the teacher, "and then go to the dentist's." That afternoon Helen told her mother about it, and her mother took her to the dentist's a few hours later. The dentist looked at the tooth and then said to Helen, "It's very bad. I'm going to pull it out and then you are going to get a new tooth. It will be as nice as the others next year." Then he did it with no trouble. The next day Helen's teacher asked her about the tooth. She said to her, "Does it still hurt, Helen?"

"I don't know. You'd better ask the dentist," Helen answered. "Why?"

"The teacher asked. "Because the dentist has kept it," Helen answered.
