章节摘录

The Wilsons made a decision to go overseas for a vacation. They had a family meeting to plan the vacation. "First," Mr. Wilson said, "we should decide where we want to go." "I don't agree," Mrs. Wilson said. "I think we should decide when we want to go first. We don't want to go to some countries when they're cold." Mr. Wilson agreed, so the family's first decision was when to go on vacation. They decided to go in July, when it's warm throughout the northern hemisphere. "Now we can decide where to go," Mr. Wilson said. "But, dad," Ben said, "don't you think that where we go depends on how we go?"

If we plan to fly, we can go a long way. If we plan to drive, we can't go as far." Again, Mr. Wilson agreed, and they discussed this. At last they agreed to travel by plane. Then Mr. Wilson said, "Now, where do we want to go?"

"Actually, dad," Trudy said, "I think we should work out how many days of vacation we'll have before we can decide where to go." So the meeting went on. The next day, one of Mr. Wilson's friends at work asked, "Have you planned your vacation yet?"

"We've decided when we want to go, how long we want to go for, how we want to get there, and how much money we can spend," Mr. Wilson told him, "but we still haven't decided where we're going!"
